Cliffall symphony

[Verse]

Storm winds howling through the night so wild
Cliffside trembling like a frightened child
Waves are shouting throwing fists of foam
Breaking stones and stealing them from home

[Verse 2]

Crash and tumble hear the mighty roar
The cliffs give in they can't take anymore
Blocks of earth falling from the height
Lost to the sea swallowed by the fight

[Chorus]

Tumble down crumble down into the deep
Where the ocean grinds and secrets it keeps
Turn to sand beneath the water's hand
A thousand years to dust at its command

[Verse 3]

The sun comes up but the scars remain
A jagged edge where the cliffs were slain
Each grain of sand whispers what it saw
Of power unchained and nature's raw law

[Bridge]

Eternal dance of land and sea
Locked in battle for eternity
No victor crowned no loser to grieve
Just echoes of cliffs in the waves they leave

[Chorus]

Tumble down crumble down into the deep
Where the ocean grinds and secrets it keeps
Turn to sand beneath the water's hand
A thousand years to dust at its command
