

Name: Form:

See pages 12 and 13 of Helping plants grow well

Warmth

Plants are very sensitive to warmth. But each type of plant needs just the right amount of warmth, so plants can be harmed by both too much cold and too much warmth.

Q1. What season is shown in picture:

A?

B?

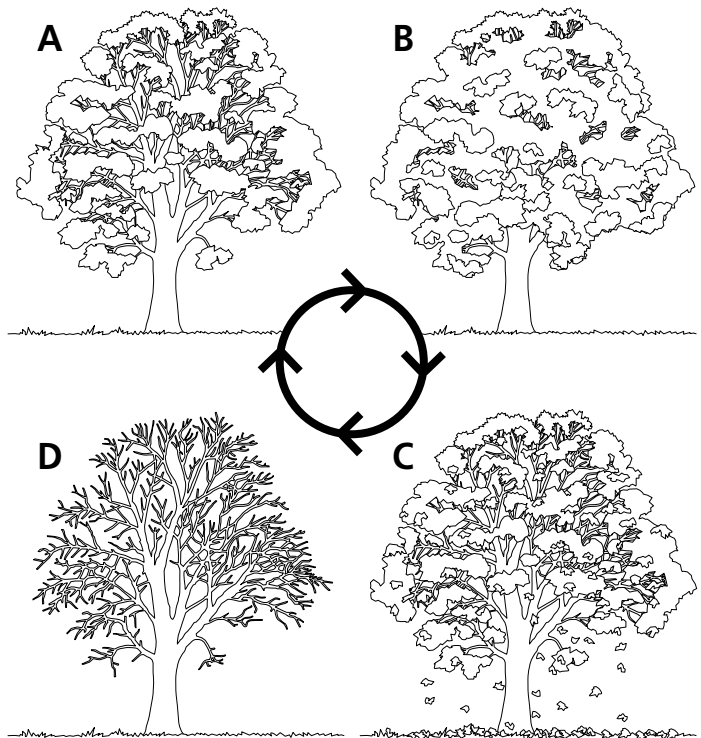

C?

D?

Q2. What happens to the water in a plant when it freezes?

.....

.....

Q3. How does the frozen water affect the leaves?

.....

Q4. Name a season when there may be a frost.

.....

Q5. How can you get plants to start growing sooner in the year?

.....

Q6. Why can't you grow wheat and pineapples together?

.....

.....

.....