Why Toby is safe (and accurate)

Toby is a learning helper inside CurriculumVisions.com. He is designed to help children find trusted learning resources safely.

What makes Toby safe

- Closed platform: Toby works only inside CurriculumVisions.com. He does not browse the open internet.

- No open-ended chat: Toby does not hold conversations. He is NOT a chatbot. He helps children find resources and offers structured overviews that have been scripted by our authors and editors.

- No ads, no external links, no strangers: Children stay in a focused learning environment.

- Fixed boundaries: If a question is outside primary learning content, Toby redirects the child to appropriate curriculum material rather than attempting to answer everything. If they ask an inappropraite question, it is not answered.

What makes Toby accurate

- Teacher-authored content: The books, videos and explanations Toby uses are written and produced by Curriculum Visions' own team of experienced teachers and authors.

- Curated resources: Toby searches only within Curriculum Visions' library, so suggestions come from trusted materials created for primary learning.

What Toby does with personal data

- No personal profiling, no personal data collection: Toby does not need children to share personal information to work effectively.

In short
Toby is safe because he stays within a closed, curated learning platform.
Toby is accurate because the resources he draws from are written and checked by teachers.
